

Course Designers/Adjunct Instructors

Bachelor of Science in Public Health

Point University is seeking part-time course designers and adjunct instructors for our Bachelor of Science in Public Health program. In addition, the course developer would be asked to teach at least the first term of the courses they develop. Course development will begin immediately. Departmental meetings will be required, remote attendance is available. Work from home.

Courses available:

- Public Health & Aging
- Drugs & Society
- Health Care Systems
- Health Education for Diverse Populations
- Health Services Administration
- Public Health Capstone

REQUIREMENTS:

- With anticipated expansion of graduate programs, a terminal degree in public health is required.
- Minimum of 2 years teaching asynchronous online courses at the collegiate level
- National Commission for Health Education Credentialing certification required
- Excellent time management skills
- Experience with basic to intermediate computer literacy
- Experience with online education resources
- History of online course development or significant online course redesign
- Effective teaching ability with excellent communication skills
- Willingness to be a professional role model and mentor
- Commitment to undergraduate education, professional growth, service, and scholarship in a distinctively Christian setting, including agreement with the University's mission and goals, values, and doctrinal statement.

Please complete the online application.

1. In the position section, enter BSPH and the course(s) you are qualified/desire to develop and teach from the list above.
2. Please include three professional references with contact information.
3. Send copies of transcripts to Jobs@point.edu (unofficial will be accepted for application purposes with official required for hiring.)