Assistant Professor of English, College of Arts & Sciences – West Point, GA

Point University is a private liberal arts institution that educates our students within a Christian worldview, so they are equipped to take their faith into the marketplace and all of life while achieving their professional goals. We are training the next generation of Christian leaders to take the cross to more job sites, churches, industries, and nations than ever before.

Point University is seeking a full-time professor of English in the College of Arts & Sciences for its on-ground degree programs. There may be occasional opportunities for teaching online as well. The English curriculum focuses on the study of the English language and literature, writing and literary analysis, and prepares students studying any discipline to engage their culture professionally and intellectually. Primary teaching responsibilities will include:

Critical Reading and Writing I and II (freshman English)

The candidate should also be able to teach courses in:

American Literature Survey
British Literature Survey
World Literature
Advanced Rhetoric and Writing
Special Topics in English

REQUIREMENTS:
- Graduate degree in English (minimum of 18 graduate semester hours in English; doctorate preferred)
- Prior teaching experience at collegiate level preferred
- Effective communication skills
- Basic computer literacy
- Experience with Canvas LMS a plus
- Willingness to be a role model and mentor to students
- Commitment to undergraduate education, professional growth, service, and scholarship in a distinctively Christian setting, including agreement with the University's mission and goals, values, and doctrinal statement.

Please complete the online application.
1. In the position section, enter ENGWPT.
2. Please include three professional references with contact information.
3. Send copies of transcripts to Jobs@point.edu (unofficial will be accepted for application purposes with official required for hiring.)